Machu Picchu Full Day by Vistadome Train

round trip with sky-view windows, a snack and an Andean show

DURATION	DIFFICULTY	MAX. ALTITUDE	BEST SEASON
Full day	Easy	2,430 m	Apr — Oct

This full-day tour is for travelers who want to ride in comfort both ways, without switching class halfway through the day. You go and return on PeruRail's Vistadome, the route's classic panoramic train: its windows aren't just on the sides, they curve up into the roof, so you can see the snowcapped peaks and canyon walls without pressing your face to the glass. The train leaves Ollantaytambo at 7:05 am, which gets you to Machu Picchu mid-morning in good light. A snack is served on both legs, and on the way back the crew usually puts on a little show: the dance of the Saqra, a character from Andean folklore, followed by a fashion show of alpaca garments. At the citadel you explore the sanctuary with a professional guide for about 2.5 hours, in a group of no more than 12 people. The return leaves Aguas Calientes at 4:43 pm, a well-balanced time: it gives you a relaxed lunch after the…
